THE SENATOR ENJOYS A PLEASANT DREAM.

A NATIONAL benefit--is a "Right-Cut," the Real Tobacco Chew. Nearly all men use tobacco. When you think how much human comfort it must be giving it's no wonder the many thousands of users are talking about it to their friends.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco--cut fine, short shred--seasoned and sweetened just enough, cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take a very small chew--less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Took it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It's a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding an ordinary cut tobacco makes you spit too much.

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

MAN WHO GOT CASH WAS NOT FOUND.

The man by the name of Skinner who was in this city last week looking for a party by the name of Moore who had sold him an interest in a cranberry marsh for $7,500, did not find the Moore party, notwithstanding the fact that he made a pretty thorough hunt for the man. The local postoffice employees were unable to give him any information about a man by that name, and nobody else about town seemed to know anything about such a person.

The circumstances surrounding this transaction were so unusual, that the first idea that seemed to enter the mind was that the man Skinner was laboring under an hallucination, and that he had never met a man by the name of Moore, that he had never negotiated for a cranberry bog and had never paid over any money to anybody.

If such a transaction were ever pulled off, it immediately strikes one that Moore must have been an amateur swindler, from the fact that he gave nothing to Skinner to show for the money that had been paid over. No doubt all swindlers would prefer to work in this manner, but they are always supplied with elaborate certificates of some kind for the purpose of impressing their victims with the squareness of the deal.

Skinner stated last he had absolutely nothing to show that he had ever paid over any money to Moore. He had simply met the man by that name in a hotel in Chicago, had talked over the cranberry business with him, had come up here on the train and had been taken out to a cranberry marsh where he had been shown the vines growing, and being satisfied that everything was all right, he had handed over the sum of $7,500 and gone his way firm in the belief that he would receive yearly dividends from his investment.

While Skinner was in the city he interviewed Attorney John A. Gaylor, who took an interest in his case and made an attempt to look up the proposition for him and see if anything could be found that would throw any light on the matter. This attempt he was not successful, but he expressed his opinion that the man was on the square and that he had actually parted with his money as he claimed, and was not laboring under any delusion of any kind.

Of course people go to the city and buy gold bricks, and unfortunately have been sold the Masonic Temple in Chicago, and other big buildings have been sold by fakers for a few hundred dollars, but generally these fellows are prepared with elaborate surroundings to fool the sucker in proper style, and the stunt is not pulled off in such a primitive manner as this one was.

The mystery of the thing is that how a man who would part with his money as easily as this ever managed to accumulate the sum of $7,500.

The Way to Reform. The Tribune is in receipt of a communication stating that a bill has been introduced in the Wisconsin legislature to do away with the publication of the session laws in the papers of the state, and the circular says that Wisconsin publishers should wake up if they want to prevent the passage of adverse legislation.

Now, at one time there might have been some reason for publishing these session laws in the newspapers of the state, but it does not seem as if there was any possible excuse for doing so at the present time. There may have been a day when reading matter was so scarce that the session laws were read by at least a few of the people who took the local papers, but it is doubtful if enough could be found who read them today, to pay for the hundred dollars that it cost to have every paper in the state distribute them.

In Wood county there are eleven newspapers alone so that the cost of the state eleven hundred dollars to apprise the people of this county what the lawmakers have done down at Madison in the way of making laws. We believe not only in abolishing this sort of petty graft, but we believe in abolishing all other kinds of petty stealing down at Madison, and then there will be some possibility of the people being relieved of the high taxes that we all rant about every time there is an election.

It costs money enough to run the state in a legitimate manner without loading it down with any sides lines of this sort.

Reformation, like charity, begins at home, and if the newspapers are free from all those petty grafts they will be in a better position to talk to the other fellow about his shortcomings.

Raised His Opinion of Marshfield. It is probable that most of you have heard of John White of Marshfield. John publishes the Marshfield Herald, and it is one of the best papers in that thriving little city up the line. John is the official joke-smith of Marshfield, and when anybody feels blue up in our neighboring city they dig up a copy of the Marshfield Herald and see what John has to say about the situation. One day recently the writer of this item was looking over the Herald, as we generally do every week, when it came into the office of recent importation came into the office, and glancing over our shoulder, read the title of the paper we were holding. After satisfying himself of all the facts in the case, he ejaculated, "Hello, have they got an English paper up at Marshfield, too?"

The Sherman Kelly stock company opened a week's engagement at Daly's Theater on Sunday evening, and they were greeted with a full house, a condition of affairs that is unusual whenever this company appears in the city. They are putting up a good show of entertainments and are entitled to all the patronage they receive.

LAWYER MAKES A NEW CLAIM.

Had Industrial Commissioner Guessing for the Time Being. On Friday of last week there was an industrial commissioner in this city listening to the evidence in the Matt Harenski case. Mr. Harenski is the employee of the Soo railway company, and the testimony in the case was to be taken, when Attorney W. A. Hayes, lawyer for the railroad, raised the point that the industrial commissioner had no jurisdiction in the case in view of the fact that Mr. Harenski was injured on a road that was engaged in interstate traffic, and thus the case does not come under the jurisdiction of the Wisconsin commission.

The commissioner stated that he would have to make an investigation of the subject, which he would do upon his return to Madison.

WHY RAILROAD PASSENGER FARES SHOULD BE RAISED.

You may think that we are going to tell you, but we are not. The above is just the title of a little book that was received at the Tribune office last week, it being sent out by E. Pennington of the Soo line.

The book is quite a long one, and has quite a bit of information in it, and is well worth reading, no matter whether you believe just as Mr. Pennington does or not. Although there is a heap of fat in the book, it does not come right out and tell you why the fares should be raised, but the impression of one after reading the book is that the reason that the fares should be raised is because the present rate of two cents a mile the railroad is not making enough so that they can be properly operated.

Mr. Pennington says, and no doubt quite truly that in order to get people to invest their money in the railroad business there must be something in it for them. The mere receiving of a certain percentage of interest does not make it a very alluring proposition for anybody concerned. And if the people do not invest their money, the railroad business cannot be operated.

While we have never thought that the railroads of the country were suffering to any great extent, at the same time it does seem as if these public utilities can be over-regulated. If a man takes the risk incident to putting his money into a proposition he ought to be entitled to the profit there is in the business. If one man can do it as well as another, he happens to lose on the end of the year and makes up the difference together with interest on his money invested.

Dishes are Here.

The new dishes that were mentioned in the Tribune some time ago, have arrived, and those who have earned a set are requested to call and get them. These dishes, by the way, are pretty nifty, plain white with a gold band, neat and redolent, and any lady who wants a set can earn same by securing two new subscribers to the Tribune. This does not mean that you can receive your paper and call for a new subscriber. The proprietors are willing to pay for new subscribers, as it takes work to get them, but it will not pay for renewals, as a man knows after he has taken the paper for a year whether he wants it or not, and whether it is worth a dollar and a half a year to him.

Another thing: The price of the Tribune is always $1.50 per year, and it always has been, and it is not given to anybody any cheaper. The fact that some of our competitors charge only a dollar a year does not cut any figure with us. If they sell their paper for a dollar a year it is probably because they consider it is worth only a dollar a year for it is probably right.

The price of the Tribune is and always has been $1.50 a year.

Postoffice Rules.

The Grand Rapids postoffice has been advised by the department headquarters that the postal laws amended as follows:

Two or more pieces or packages of parcel post matter, tied, or otherwise fastened together, shall not be accepted for mailing as one parcel. When it is desired to send two or more pieces together they shall be placed in one container or wrapper, so as to constitute one single parcel.

It is, however, permissible to attach money matters, on which the postage has been fully prepaid. The communications should be placed in an envelope and after the full amount of postage at the first class rate is affixed to the envelope, it may be tied, or otherwise securely attached to the outside of the parcel. The envelope should be addressed to correspond with the address on the parcel.

The postmaster has also been advised that the notice limiting the issue of money orders payable in European countries to $100 in favor of one person, is rescinded. International money order business is resumed under the general rules and regulations as formerly. This applies to the following countries: Denmark, France, Germany, Great Britain, and Ireland, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Norway, Russia, Sweden, and Switzerland.

Will Organize New League.

Guy Getts left on Monday to visit the cities in the northern part of the state for the purpose of interesting the bowlers of these different cities in the formation of a new bowling league. Among the places that will be visited will be Marshfield, Merrill, Wausau, Fond du Lac, Mayville, Ripon and Neau.

There is no question but what the bowlers from the most of these cities will be interested in the formation of such a league, as it will enable them to hold a tournament every year in their own neighborhood, and thus get a larger attendance than when it is necessary for them to travel the whole length of the state.

OPENING OF ELKS A GRAND EVENT.

The new Elks hall was formally opened to the public on Thursday and Friday evenings of last week, and judging from the number who turned out to take part in the affair, it was one of the most joyful events that has ever occurred in Grand Rapids.

The doings on Thursday evening were for the Elks and their wives only, and when the grand march was played there were about one hundred and twenty couples on the floor to take part in the event.

Everything about the building had been completed and put into condition for the event, and the different committees had performed their work so thoroughly and conscientiously that there was nothing to apologize for in any way. It seemed as if there was nothing for the comfort of the guests that had been forgotten, and many were the expressions of joy and pleasure that were indulged in by those who had never visited the building before and who did not know what to expect, and who had not anticipated anything half so splendid as the scene that met their eyes when they entered the building.

The building itself is designed in a manner that is calculated to impress a person as to its handsomeness and adaptability for the purpose intended, and then the finish of the interior all the way thru is unique and at the same time quiet and subdued, so that there is nothing glaring nor offensive about it in any way.

The entire lighting of the building has been attended to in a manner that called forth many favorable comments, the wiring and fixtures having been installed by Joe Staub.

The tables and cigar case was manufactured by G. J. Kandy, as were some of the other furnishings about the building. The Ahlswaig Furniture company furnished some of the furniture for the ladies dressing room and this was right blue and fully as neat as anything that was bought out of the city. In fact all of the work done by home concerns was as good as that from out of town.

The furnishings throughout the building have been selected with great taste, and this fact contributes more to the appearance of the interior than any other one thing. There are a great many people who imagine that the buying of furniture is merely the expending of a certain amount of money, and that one man can do it as well as another, but this is not a fact. It takes almost as much of an artist to buy furniture in this day and age as it does to make it, a fact that is exemplified by the manner and taste in which the different rooms of this new club house are furnished.

On Thursday evening the ladies in attendance seemed to have vied with each other to wear a dress that was not only appropriate for the occasion but one that would assist in making the appearance of the hall more beautiful, and to say that they were successful in their efforts is only expressing it in a very meager manner. Music was furnished during the evening by the Elks orchestra, and there was an abundance of it, and this feature added much to the enjoyment of the occasion.

The acoustics of the new hall are splendid, and there was no time when the music was not loud and plainly audible in all parts of the large room, even when it was crowded with dancers.

The balcony in the dance hall was filled with spectators all the evening, those who did not care to dance being enabled to witness the festivities without mingling with the crowd in any way. The billiard and pool tables on the lower floor were in use during the evening, those who did not care for dancing being enabled to amuse themselves in other ways.

On Friday evening the Elks invited their friends to come and look over the new premises and indulge in a few hours of dancing at their expense, and the fact that several hundred people responded to the invitation was very gratifying to all who had the matter in charge. The evening was spent in dancing the same as on Thursday night, and there seemed to be the best of time prevailing all the evening. There was no formality about the affair either night, which was the idea that the Elks tried to carry out all the way thru. Those who came were welcome, and the whole house was thrown open to them without reservation and they were allowed to amuse themselves in any way that pleased them.

Joe Zakazewski, a young man living at Port Edwards, was sentenced to one year in prison on Saturday by Judge Park at Stevens Point, the charge against him being the stealing of a check that did not belong to him and having same cashed. He pleaded guilty to the charge when taken before the judge.

The check was one issued by the Nekosco-Edwards Paper Co., and was for $16.88, and made out to Stanley Krinski. Zakazewski stole the check and brought it to this city, where he had it cashed at the Nash Grocery store. When arrested he made it known that he would plead guilty to the charge against him and he was taken before the judge without delay.

Young Man Adjudged Insane.

Victor Worlund, a young man 27 years of age, was taken before County Judge W. J. Conway on Friday, where he was examined for the purpose of determining whether or not he was insane. After listening to the facts in the case the judge decided that the young man was suffering from some mental aberration, and he was sent to the northern hospital for the insane to be treated.

The young man is a son of John Worlund of the town of Sigel.

The present winter has certainly been one of more than ordinary dampness for this part of the country, owing to the prevalence of several rain storms, a thing that we do not often have in this latitude during the winter months. It seems as if the walks had been covered with ice over since cold weather started, and apparently the ice is not in sight.

SAVINGBUND ORGANIZED.

Lutheran Choirs Hold Meeting in this City on Saturday.

A meeting of the Lutheran choir from cities in this vicinity was held in this city on Saturday and an organization effected, which it is expected will do a great deal toward promoting the interest in this branch of music and at the same time give the members a chance to meet once a year and hold a saviourfest, and thus give the public a chance to hear what is being accomplished along this line.

At the meeting held in this city last Saturday there were eight different choirs represented, but it is expected that many more than this will be taken in during the existence of the society. The organization will be known as the Lutheran Saviourbund of Central Wisconsin. The officers elected were as follows:

President--R. J. Pautz of this city Vice president--O. K. Koehnmann of Wausau.

Treasurer--W. H. Dicks of Merrill. Secretary--Prof. O. Holmstrom of Marshfield.

The first saviourfest will be held in this city some time during the latter part of August, and it is expected that something like 200 singers will take part in the event, and there will probably be a number from each place who will attend the event beside those actually taking part.

The committee in charge of the music consists of Prof. H. Reichert of this city, Prof. R. John of Merrill and Rev. Wm. Nommensen of this city.

MURDER AND SUICIDE AT STEVENS POINT

A double tragedy occurred at Stevens Point on Sunday afternoon when Mrs. Harold Dawson, wife of a Soo line brakeman, killed her two year old baby boy by shooting him thru the head, and then turned the weapon on herself and committed suicide in the same manner.

In speaking of the event the Stevens Point Journal has the following to say:

A sequel to a series of domestic troubles took place shortly after 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, when Mrs. Julia Dawson, wife of Howard Dawson, a Soo line brakeman, took her own life and that of her son, Robert, not yet two years of age.

The tragedy, one of the saddest local authorities have had to deal with in years, was enacted in the Dawson home, situated at 311 Ellis street. Mr. Dawson, according to his own story, was leaving the house, intending to go to the south side, when he heard two pistol shots in quick succession. Rushing back into the house he found his wife and child lying on the floor of a bedroom in the front part of the house.

After making only a speedy examination Mr. Dawson hastened to summon a neighbor woman who returned with him to the house. Together they went into the bedroom and found Mrs. Dawson dead. A revolver lay alongside her body and on the floor but a few feet away was the baby, still alive, but apparently breathing his last.

At the coroner's inquest it developed that Dawson and his wife had been having trouble during the past three weeks, and were making preparations for a separation, and that Dawson had applied for a divorce.

Modern Woodmen to Celebrate.

The local lodge of Modern Woodmen of America was organized twenty-five years ago this spring, and the members of the lodge are making preparations to properly celebrate the event.

At a meeting held last Thursday evening the matter was taken up and discussed and a committee was appointed to take the matter in charge and make the proper arrangements for the coming event.

As yet the outline for the celebration is only started, but it is expected that there will be a banquet and dance and some other ceremonies to make the event one long to be remembered by the members of the lodge.

The number of the Grand Rapids camp is 1268, indicating that it is no spring chicken in point of years. The lodge has been since its founding a thriving one, and has probably paid more death claims than any other order of the kind in the city.

Sentenced to One Year. Joe Zakazewski, a young man living at Port Edwards, was sentenced to one year in prison on Saturday by Judge Park at Stevens Point, the charge against him being the stealing of a check that did not belong to him and having same cashed. He pleaded guilty to the charge when taken before the judge.

The check was one issued by the Nekosco-Edwards Paper Co., and was for $16.88, and made out to Stanley Krinski. Zakazewski stole the check and brought it to this city, where he had it cashed at the Nash Grocery store. When arrested he made it known that he would plead guilty to the charge against him and he was taken before the judge without delay.

FARMERS COURSE BEING HELD HERE.

A farmer's course is being held in this city, the same commenced at the agricultural school this morning and continuing for three days. A number of interesting and important subjects are to be taken up and handled in a scientific manner and there is no reason why the course should not prove beneficial to all who attend, and every farmer who can get away from home for the three days should make it a point to be present. The following program has been prepared for the three days:

Wednesday Morning. Corn Culture--Discussion, A. L. Stone. Selecting the Profitable Dairy Sire--Discussion, C. G. Humphrey.

Wednesday Afternoon. Seed and Weed Control--Discussion, A. L. Stone. Care and Management of the Dairy Heifer--Discussion, C. G. Humphrey.

Thursday Morning. Cow Testing--W. W. Clark. How to make the Dairy Cow More Profitable--J. A. James.

Thursday Afternoon. Some Drainage Problems in Wood County--O. R. Zeeman. Community Work in Agriculture--J. A. James.

Friday Morning. Music--Local Talent. Illustrated Lecture: How to Live Long and Well--Dr. W. D. Frost.

Friday Afternoon. Concrete Construction on the Farm--F. M. White. Lime and Lining--H. W. Ulisporer. Besides the course as outlined above for the men folks, there will also be a program for the women on Thursday and Friday. The program as prepared for the women is as follows:

Thursday Afternoon. Home Conveniences--Mary Carroll. Thursday Evening. Music--Local Talent. How Food Influences the Welfare of the Home and Family--Miss Kelly.

Friday. Demonstration--Cookery of meats--Miss Mary Carroll. Farmers in the vicinity of Grand Rapids should show their appreciation of the efforts in their behalf by coming in and attending this course. It may be that you already know all there is to know about farming, but the chances are that there are a few scientific facts that may prove to be news to you, and if there is only one thing that you may learn it will be worth the time and money that it takes to attend the meetings.

Prof. Clark, who has charge of the agricultural school in Grand Rapids is doing all he can for the farmers in this county, and it is no more than right that the farmers should cooperate with him and assist him in every way possible. Come in and get acquainted with him; you will find him an earnest worker and a conscientious man, and you will be glad afterward that you got acquainted.

Think we are Bad Losers. A dispatch from Sheboygan intimates that the Grand Rapids bowlers are bad losers because they do not sit quietly by and see the 1916 bowling tournament handed over to Kenosha.

Well, maybe they are, and then again, maybe they are not. When a crowd of fellow bowlers get you on the back and tell you what a good fellow you are and about how they are coming up to your town and hold the next tournament, and not to worry for you are the whole works, and just keep quiet and let nature take her course, and then when it turns out that nature course is entirely different from what it was represented to be, you cannot blame a man for kicking.

The bowlers from the northern part of the state are not to be blamed if they form another association and hold tournaments in the neighborhood of where they reside. It might have been a little more trouble for the bowlers from the southern part of the state to come up here to a tournament, but it would have been no worse than it is for the bowlers from the northern part of the state to go down in their part of the state to every year.

It might have done them good to get up here and see how white men act when they have visitors to entertain. It would not have harmed them any, and there is no telling what the result might have been.

Pure Bred Guernseys. A. P. Bean of Vesper and Prof. W. V. Clark, of the agricultural school of this city returned the fore part of the week from a trip thru Minnesota and Wisconsin and while away they secured a line on about 35 head of pure bred Guernseys. Farmers interested in the breeding of pure bred stock will meet at the agricultural school in Grand Rapids on Friday, at nine o'clock, where the matter will be discussed. The farmer's course will be in session at this time and all farmers should be in attendance. The prices of these cattle range from $100 to $200 and higher if desired.

Former Resident Burned to Death. Henry Seal of Tomahawk was burned to death on Thursday night. He was occupying a granary as a sleeping apartment, the place being on a farm near Bass Lake. The granary was used as an engine room for an electric light plant, and was also fitted up as a sleeping apartment. When the fire was discovered it had been burning long enough so that it was impossible to subdue the flames or get at the occupant of the building. Deceased was 58 years of age and is survived by a wife and two children, and at one time made his home in this city.

Just a Plain Drunk. Frank Sanders was up before Justice Poinville on Saturday on a charge of being drunk. The defendant admitted the allegation and the judge made it ten days in jail to allow time to sober up and get squared away again.

WIPPERMAN FACTORY LEASED.

New Company has Made a Deal for the Wiperman Plant.

The Prentiss-Wahlers Company has closed a deal with Charles Wiperman by which that concern comes into possession of the plant of the Wiperman Table Co. building, and will use the same for their business, which it is proposed to start up in this city in the near future.

The Wiperman plant is nicely located for manufacturing purposes, being on the Green Bay & Western railway and plenty large enough to every way for the purpose wanted.

The new company will engage especially in the manufacture of a collophane gasoline stove, the patents of which are held by the company, and it is possible that later it will take hold of some potato planting and digging machinery which has been invited by one of the members of the firm.

Everybody interested in the welfare of the city will be pleased to know that this company has received sufficient financial support to enable it to start into business here, and also that the Wiperman plant will be called into use instead of lying idle, as has been the case for several years past.

ORDER OF MOOSE ORGANIZED HERE. A lodge of the Order of Moose was organized in this city on Sunday at the Odd Fellows hall, and there were about one hundred on the list to be taken into the order, although they were not all on hand when the lodge was organized. It is expected, however, that the remainder will be taken in within a short time, and that other members will also be added to the list.

The order is one that seems to appeal to the ordinary every-day sort of man there being several advantages offered members that are not on the list in the other organizations of this sort, and the indications are that this lodge will soon be one of the strong ones of the city.

The work of organizing the lodge in this city was done by General Director A. G. Brookwell, and the officers installed at the initial meeting were as follows:

Dictator--A. J. Crowns. Vice-Dict--W. H. Heath. Past Dict--Wm. Nobles. Prelate--A. F. Perrodin. Sorgt. at Arms--J. Reynolds. Treasurer--E. N. Poinville. Secretary--E. Witig. Inner Guard--Max Tokarski. Outer Guard--Matt Keady. Orator--Joseph A. Cohen.

Trustees--S. V. McElroy A. B. Sutor and Louis Heath.

While the Moose lodge is a new order compared with most of them, there are already more than 700,000 members in the United States, while Wisconsin alone there are something like 15,000 members.

Commercial Hotel Sold. Wm. Warren of Stevens Point has purchased the Commercial Hotel on the west side from Pat Mulroy who has operated the place during the past thirteen years, and will take possession of the place at once. The new owner is an old hotel man and will no doubt make a success of the business, it being his intention to continue the place about along the same lines as heretofore.

Patrick Mulroy came here with his family thirteen years ago, and during that time he has been a good citizen, and has always taken a great interest in the affairs of the city and county, and has many friends who will be sorry to learn that he has decided to remove to Milwaukee to make his home. However, wherever he may be, they will wish him the best of success.

Cycle Club Formed. A meeting was held at Millers garage on Thursday evening by a number of enthusiastic riders on a cycle club formed. Riley Denton was elected president and secretary and Eugene Miller treasurer.

A committee was also appointed for the purpose of soliciting new members, and it is expected that in a short time a pretty fair sized club will be formed in the city. The membership will include both bicycle and motorcycle riders.

Gave a Good Show.

There was only a small attendance at Duly's Theatre on Friday evening to see Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch, but those who were fortunate to be present pronounced it one of the best things of the kind ever produced in this city.

It is probable that the various other attractions about town that evening had a great deal to do with the small number that turned out to see this production.

Transplanting Large Trees. During the past winter Frank LeLand has been planting some trees on the Rogers property in the Lyon district. Some of these were eleven inches in diameter, and if they thrive in good shape will make pretty good sized shade trees the first year. As the trees were handled in the most approved style the chances are that they will do all right.

Scandinavian Moravian Church. This evening tenten services will be held in the church. The pastor will give an address in English and administer the sacrament of the Holy Communion. Next Wednesday evening the Rev. Madson will preach in the Scandinavian language. English services will be conducted on Sunday morning.

Frank Sanders was up before Justice Poinville on Saturday on a charge of being drunk. The defendant admitted the allegation and the judge made it ten days in jail to allow time to sober up and get squared away again.

MAN WHO GOT CASH WAS NOT FOUND.

The man by the name of Skinner who was in this city last week looking for a party by the name of Moore who had sold him an interest in a cranberry marsh for $7,500, did not find the Moore party, notwithstanding that he made a pretty thorough hunt for the man. The local postoffice employees were unable to give him any information about a man by that name, and nobody else about town seemed to know anything about such a person.

The circumstances surrounding this transaction were so unusual, that the first idea that seemed to enter the mind was that the man Skinner was laboring under an hallucination, and that he had never met a man by the name of Moore, but had never negotiated for a cranberry bog and had never paid over any money to anybody.

If such a transaction were ever pulled off, it immediately strikes one that Moore must have been an amateur swindler, from the fact that he gave nothing to Skinner to show for the money that had been paid over. No doubt all swindlers would prefer to work in this manner, but they are always supplied with elaborate stock certificates of some kind, for the purpose of impressing their victims with the appearance of the deal.

Skinner stated that he had absolutely nothing to show that he had ever paid over any money to Moore. He had simply met the man by accident in a hotel in Chicago, had talked over the cranberry business with him, had come up here on the train and had been taken out to a cranberry marsh where he had been shown the vines growing, and being satisfied that everything was all right, he had handed over the sum of $7,500 and gone his way firm in the belief that everything was all right and that he would receive yearly dividends from his investment.

While Skinner was in the city he interviewed Attorney John A. Gaynor, who took an interest in his case and made an attempt to look up the proposition for him and see if anything could be found that would throw any light on the matter. In this attempt he was not successful, but he expressed it as his opinion that the man was on the square and that he had actually parted with his money as he claimed, and was not laboring under any delusion of any kind.

Of course people go to the city and buy gold bricks, and unfortunately have been sold the Masonic Temple in Chicago, and other big buildings have been sold by fakers for a few hundred dollars, but generally these fellows are prepared with elaborate surroundings to fool the sucker in proper style, and the stunt is not pulled off in such a primitive manner as this one was.

The mystery of the thing is that how a man who would part with his money as easily as this ever managed to accumulate the sum of $7,500.

The Way to Reform.

The Tribune is in receipt of a communication stating that a bill has been introduced in the Wisconsin legislature to do away with the publication of the session laws in all the papers of the state, and the circular says that Wisconsin publishers should wake up if they want to prevent the passage of adverse legislation.

Now, at one time there might have been some reason for publishing these session laws in the newspapers of the state, but it does not seem as if there was any possible excuse for doing so at the present time. There may have been a day when reading matter was so scarce that the session laws were read by at least a few of the people who took the local papers, but it is doubtful if enough could be found who read them today, to pay for the hundred dollars that it cost to have every paper in the state distribute them.

In Wood county there are eleven newspapers alone so that it costs the state eleven hundred dollars to apprise the people of this county what the lawmakers have done down at Madison in the way of making laws.

We believe not only in abolishing this sort of petty graft, but we believe in abolishing all other kinds of petty stealing down at Madison, and then there will be some possibility of the people being relieved of the high taxes that we all rant about every time there is an election.

It costs money enough to run the state in a legitimate manner without loading it down with any sides lines of this sort.

Reformation, like charity, begins at home, and if the newspapers are free from all these petty grafts they will be in a better position to talk to the other fellow about his shortcomings.

Taised His Opinion of Marshfield.

It is probable that most of you have heard of John White of Marshfield. John publishes the Marshfield Herald, and it is one of the papers in that thriving little city up the line. John White, of Marshfield, and when anything feels blue up in our neighboring city they dig up a copy of the Marshfield Herald and see what John has to say about the situation. One day recently the writer of this item was looking over the Herald, as we generally do every week, when one of our citizens of recent importation came into the office, and glancing over the paper, read the title of the paper we were holding. After satisfying himself of all the facts in the case, he ejaculated, "Hello, have they got an English paper up at Marshfield, too?"

The Sherman Kelly stock company opened a week's engagement at Daly's Theater on Sunday evening, and they were greeted with a full house, a conquer this company appears in the city. They are putting up a good class of entertainments and are entitled to all the patronage they receive.

LAWYER MAKES A NEW CLAIM.

Had Industrial Commissioner Guessing for the Time Being.

On Friday of last week there was an industrial commissioner in this city listening to the evidence in the case of the Soo line. Mr. Harsanyi, who was present, while in the employ of the Soo line, was the employer of the man in the case, and the testimony in the case was to be taken, when Attorney W. A. Hayes, lawyer for the railroad, raised the point that the industrial commissioner had no jurisdiction in the case in view of the fact that Mr. Harsanyi was injured on a road that was engaged in interstate traffic, and thus the case does not come under the jurisdiction of the Wisconsin commissioner.

The commissioner stated that he would have to make an investigation of the subject, which he would do upon his return to Madison.

WHY RAILROAD PASSENGER FARES SHOULD BE RAISED.

You may think that we are going to tell you, but we are not. The above is just the title of a little book that was received at the Tribune office last week, it being sent out by E. Pennington of the Soo line.

The book is quite a long one, and has quite a bit of information in it, and is well worth reading, no matter whether you believe just as Mr. Pennington does or not. Although there is a heap of fat in the book, it does not come right out and tell you why the fares should be raised, but the impression of one after reading the present rate of two cents a mile the railroads are not making enough, that they can be properly operated.

Mr. Pennington says, and no one quite truly that in order to get a return on their investment in the railroads, they must invest their money in the railroads. The more receiving of a certain percentage of interest of a certain percentage of interest does not make it a very alluring proposition for anybody concerned. And if the people do not invest their money there can be no more railroads, not improvements made, not extensions to the present systems.

While we have never thought that the railroads of the country were suffering to any great extent, as if the same time it does seem as if these public utilities can be over-regulated. If a man takes the risk incident to putting his money into a proposition he ought to be entitled to the profit there is in the business. If nobody comes around at the end of the year and makes up his money invested with interest on his money invested.

Dishes are Here.

The new dishes that were mentioned in the Tribune some time ago, have arrived, and those who have earned a set are requested to call and get them. These dishes, by the way, are pretty nifty, plain white with a gold band, neat and refined, and any lady who wants a set can earn some by securing two new subscribers to the Tribune.

This does not mean that you can renew your paper and call that a new subscriber. The proprietors are willing to pay for new subscribers, as it takes work to get them, but it will not pay for renewals, as a man knows after he has taken it a year or two whether he wants it or not, and whether it is worth a dollar and a half a year to him.

Another thing: The price of the Tribune is always $1.50 per year, and it always has been, and it is not given to anybody any cheaper. The fact that some of our competitors charge only a dollar a year does not cut any figure with us. If they sell their paper for a dollar a year it is probably because they consider it is worth only a dollar a year it is probably right.

The price of the Tribune is and always has been $1.50 a year.

Postoffice Rules.

The Grand Rapids postoffice has been advised by the department headquarters that the postal laws and regulations covering the mailing amended as follows:

Two or more pieces or packages of parcel post matter, sent by registered mail, shall not be accepted for mailing as one parcel. It is desired to send two or more pieces together they shall be placed in one container or wrapper, so as to constitute one single parcel.

It is, however, permissible to attach communications to parcels by fourth class matter, on which the postage has been fully prepaid. The communications should be placed in an envelope and after the full amount of postage at the first class rate is affixed to the envelope, it may be tied to, or otherwise securely attached to the outside of the parcel. The envelope should be addressed to correspond with the address on the parcel.

The postmaster has also been advised that the notice limiting the money orders payable in European countries to $100 in favor of one person, is rescinded. International money order business is resumed under the general rules and regulations as formerly. This applies to the following countries: Denmark, France, Germany, Great Britain, and Ireland, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Norway, Russia, Sweden, and Switzerland.

Will Organize New League.

Guy Gets left on Monday to visit some of the cities in the northern part of the state for the purpose of interesting the bowlers of these different cities in the formation of a new bowling league. Among the places that will be visited will be Marshfield, Merrill, Waupun, Fond du Lac, Mayville, Ripon and Janesville.

There is no question but what the bowlers from the most of these cities will be interested in the formation of such a league, as it will enable them to hold a tournament every year in their own neighborhood, and thus get a larger attendance when it is necessary for them to travel the whole length of the state.

OPENING OF ELKS A GRAND EVENT.

The new Elks hall was formally opened to the public on Thursday and Friday evenings of last week, and judging from the number who turned out to take part in the affair, it was one of the most joyful events that have ever occurred in Grand Rapids.

The doings on Thursday evening were for the Elks and their wives only, and when the grand march was played there were about one hundred and twenty couple on the floor to take part in the event.

Everything about the building had been completed and put into condition for the event, and the different committees had performed their work so thoroughly and conscientiously that there was nothing to apologize for in any way. It seemed as if there was nothing for the guests that had been forgotten, and many were the expressions of wonder and pleasure that were indulged in by those who had never visited the building before and who did not know what to expect, and who had not anticipated anything half so splendid as the scene that met their eyes when they entered the building.

The building itself is designed in a manner that is calculated to impress a person as to its handsomeness and adaptability for the purpose intended, and then the finish of the interior all the way through is unique and at the same time quiet and subdued, so that there is nothing glaring nor offensive about it in any way.

The entire lighting of the building has been attended to in a manner that called forth many favorable comments, the wiring and fixtures having been installed by Joe Staub.

Tables and cigar case was manufactured by G. J. Kaudy, as were some of the other furnishings about the building. The Ahlstrom Furniture company furnished some of the furniture for the ladies dressing room, and this was right in line and fully as neat as anything that was bought out of the city. In fact all of the work done by home concerns was as good as that from out of town.

The furnishings throughout the building have been selected with great taste, and this fact contributes more to the appearance of the interior than any other one thing.

There are a great many people who imagine that the buying of furniture is merely the expenditure of a certain amount of money, and that one man can do it as well as another, but this is not a fact. It takes almost as much of an artist to buy furniture in this day and age as it does to make it, a fact that is exemplified by the manner and taste in which the different rooms of this new club house are furnished.

On Thursday evening the ladies in attendance seemed to have vied with each other to wear a dress that was not only appropriate for the occasion but one that would assist in making the appearance of the hall more beautiful, and to say that they were successful in their efforts is only expressing it in a very meager manner. The music was furnished during the evening by the Elks orchestra, and there was an abundance of it, and this feature added much to the enjoyment of the occasion. The acoustics of the new hall are splendid, and there was no time when the music was not loud and plainly audible in all parts of the large room, even when it was crowded with dancers.

The balcony in the dance hall was filled with spectators all the evening, those who did not care to dance being enabled to witness the festivities without mingling with the crowd in any way. The billiard and pool tables on the lower floor were also in use during the evening, those who did not care for dancing being enabled to amuse themselves in other ways.

On Friday evening the Elks invited their friends to come and look over the new premises and indulge in a few hours of dancing at their expense, and the fact that several hundred people responded to the invitation was very gratifying to all who had the matter in charge. The evening was spent in dancing the same as on Thursday night, and the same seemed to be the best of times prevailing all the evening.

There was no formality about the affair either night, which was the idea that the Elks tried to carry out all the way through. Those who came were welcome, and the whole house was thrown open to them without reservation and they were allowed to amuse themselves in any way that pleased them best.

Everybody who attended was well pleased with the affair, and the best of spirits prevailed at all times. A number of Elks were present from surrounding towns, and they were all loud in their praise of the new place, and were unanimous in pronouncing it the nicest place of the kind in the state.

It must indeed be gratifying to those who have expended their effort in bringing about the building of the new building to know that their efforts are appreciated in the way they are, and to realize that the lodge members to a man are with them in the work in every way.

Cow Record Sheets.

The Tribune has just printed up a new lot of those cow record sheets for the use of dairymen who wish to keep tab on the dairy production of their cows, so as to know whether the cow is working for them or if they are working for the cow.

We now have these sheets in two sizes, one of which will accommodate ten cows and the other twenty cows. Many a farmer who has installed a record system has been surprised at the results obtained, and have been enabled to increase the average production of their herd by weeding out the members who have not been paying for their keep.

SAENGERBUND ORGANIZED.

Lutheran Chords Held Meeting in this City on Saturday.

A meeting of the Lutheran chords from cities in this vicinity was held in this city on Saturday and an organization effected, which it is expected will do a great deal toward promoting the interest in this branch of music and at the same time give the members a chance to meet once a year and hold a saengerfest, and thus give the public a chance to hear what is being accomplished along this line.

At the meeting held in this city last Saturday there were eight different chords represented, but it is expected that many more than this will be taken in during the existence of the society. The organization will be known as the Lutheran Saengerbund of Central Wisconsin. The officers elected were as follows:

President---R. J. Pantz of this city
Vice-president---O. K. Koschmann of Waupun
Treasurer---W. H. Dicke of Merrill
Secretary---Prof. O. Hellerman of Marshfield.

The first saengerfest will be held in this city some time during the latter part of August, and it is expected that something like 300 singers will take part in the event, and there will probably be a number from each place who will attend the event beside those actually taking part.

The committee in charge of the music consists of Prof. H. Reichert of this city, Prof. R. John of Merrill and Rev. Wm. Nommensen of this city.

MURDER AND SUICIDE AT STEVENS POINT.

A double tragedy occurred at Stevens Point on Sunday afternoon when Mrs. Harold Dawson, wife of a Son line brakeman, killed her two young baby boys by shooting them through the head, and then turned the weapon on herself and committed suicide in the same manner.

In speaking of the event the Stevens Point Journal has the following to say:

A sequel to a series of domestic troubles took place shortly after 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, when Mrs. Julia Dawson, wife of Howard Dawson, a Son line brakeman, took her own life and that of her son, Robert, not yet two years of age.

The tragedy, one of the saddest local authorities have had to deal with in years, was enacted in the Dawson home, 811 Ellis street. Mr. Dawson, according to his own story, was leaving the house, intending to go to the south side, when he heard two pistol shots in quick succession rushing back into the house he found his wife and child lying on the floor of a bedroom in the front part of the house.

After making only a speedy examination Mr. Dawson hastened to summon a neighbor woman who returned with him to the house. Together they went into the bedroom and found Mrs. Dawson dead. A revolver lay along side her body and on the floor but a few feet away was the body, still alive, but apparently breathing his last.

At the coroner's inquest it developed that Dawson and his wife had been having trouble during the past three weeks, and were making preparations for a separation and that Dawson had applied for a divorce.

Modern Woodmen to Celebrate.

The local lodge of Modern Woodmen of America was organized twenty-two years ago this spring, and the members of the lodge are making preparations to properly celebrate the event.

At a meeting held last Thursday evening the matter was taken up and discussed and a committee was appointed to take the matter into charge and make the proper arrangements for the coming event.

As yet the outline for the celebration is only started, but it is expected that there will be a banquet and dance and some other ceremonies to make the event one long to be remembered by the members of the lodge.

The number of the Grand Rapids lodge is 1358, indicating that it is no spring chicken in the point of years. The lodge has been a thriving one ever since its organization, and has probably paid more death claim than any other order of the kind in the city.

Sentenced to One Year.

Joe Zakaszewski, a young man living at Port Edwards, was sentenced to one year in prison on Saturday by Judge Park at Stevens Point, on a charge against him being the stealing of a check that did not belong to him and having same cashed. He pleaded guilty to the charge when taken before the judge.

The check was one issued by the Nekosco-Edwards Paper Co., and was for $15.85, and made out to Stanley Krinski. Zakaszewski stole the check and brought it to this city, where he had it cashed at the Nash Grocery store. When arrested he made it known that he would plead guilty to the charge against him and he was taken before the judge without delay.

Young Man Adjudged Insane.

Victor Worlund, a young man 27 years of age, was taken before County Judge W. J. Conway on Saturday, where he was examined for the purpose of determining whether or not he was insane. After listening to the facts in the case the judge decided that the young man was suffering from some mental aberration, and he was sent to the northern hospital for the insane to be treated. The young man is a son of John Worlund of the town of Sigel.

The present winter has certainly been one of more than ordinary dampness for this part of the country, owing to the prevalence of several rain storms, a thing that we do not often have in this latitude during the winter months. It seems as if the rains had been covered with ice ever since cold weather started, and apparently the end is not in sight.

FARMERS COURSE BEING HELD HERE.

A farmer's course is being held in this city, the same commencing at the agricultural school this morning and continuing for three days. A number of interesting and important subjects are to be taken up and handled in a scientific manner and there is no reason why the course should not prove beneficial to all who attend, and every farmer who can get away from home for the three days should make it a point to be present. The following program has been prepared for the three days:

Wednesday Morning.
Corn Culture. Discussion, A. L. Stone.
Selecting the Profitable Dairy. Discussion, G. C. Humphrey.

Wednesday Afternoon.
Seed and Weed Control. Discussion, A. L. Stone.
Care and Management of the Dairy. Discussion, G. C. Humphrey.

Thursday Morning.
Cow Testing. Discussion, W. W. Clark.
How to make the Dairy Cow More Profitable. Discussion, A. L. Stone.

Thursday Afternoon.
Some Drainage Problems in Wood County. Discussion, O. R. Zerk.
Community Work in Agriculture. Discussion, J. A. Jones.

Thursday Evening.
Musical Entertainment. Local Talent.
Long and Well. Mr. W. D. Frost.

Friday Morning.
Community Potato Growing. Discussion, A. L. Stone.
Maintaining Soil Fertility. Discussion, J. H. W. Chappin.

Friday Afternoon.
Concrete Construction on the Farm. Discussion, F. M. White.
Line and Lining. Mr. W. D. Frost.

Besides the course as outlined above for the men, there will also be a program for the women on Thursday and Friday. The program as prepared for the women is as follows:

Thursday Evening.
Home Conveniences. Discussion, Mary Carroll.
Musical Entertainment. Local Talent.

Friday.
Demonstration---Cookery of meats. Discussion, Miss Mary Carroll.
Farmers in the vicinity of Grand Rapids should show their appreciation of the efforts in their behalf by coming in and attending this course.

It may be that you don't know all the chances are that there are a few scientific facts that may prove to be news to you, and if there is only one thing that you may learn it will be worth the time and money that it takes to attend the meetings.

Prof. Clark, who has charge of the agricultural school in Grand Rapids is doing all he can for the farmers in this county, and it is no more than right that the farmers should cooperate with him and assist him in every way possible. Come in and get acquainted with him; you will find him an earnest worker and a conscientious man, and you will be glad afterward that you got acquainted.

Think we are Bad Losers.

A dispatch from Sheboygan intimates that the Grand Rapids bowlers are bad losers because they do not sit quietly by and see the 1916 bowling tournament handed over to Kenosha.

Well, maybe they are, and then again, maybe they are not. When a crowd of fellows put you on the back and tell you what a good fellow you are and about how they are coming up to your town and hold the next tournament, and not to worry for you are the whole works, and just keep quiet and let nature take her course, and then when it turns out that nature course was entirely different from what it was represented to be, you cannot blame a man for kicking.

The bowlers from the northern part of the state are not to be blamed for they form another association and hold tournaments in the neighborhood of where they reside. It might have been a little more trouble for the bowlers from the southern part of the state to come up here to a tournament, but it would have been no worse than it is for the bowlers from the northern part of the state to go down in their part of the country every year.

It might have done them good to get up here and see how well they get along when they have visitors to entertain. It would not have harmed them any, and there is no telling what the result might have been.

Pure Bred Guernseys.

A. P. Dean of Vesper and Prof. W. W. Clark, of the agricultural school of this city returned the fore part of the week from a trip thru Minnesota and Wisconsin and while away they secured a 1.25 on about 35 head of pure bred Guernseys. Farmers interested in the breeding of pure bred stock will meet at the agricultural school in Grand Rapids on Friday at nine o'clock, where the matter will be discussed. The farmer's course will be in session at this time and all farmers should be in attendance. The prices of these cattle range from $100 to $200 and higher if desired.

Former Resident Burned to Death.

Henry Searl of Tomahawk was burned to death on Thursday night. He was occupying a granary as a sleeping apartment, the place being on a farm near Bass Lake. The granary was used as an engine room for an electric light plant, and was also fitted up as a sleeping apartment. When the fire discovered it had been impossible to subdue the flames or get at the occupant of the building. Deceased was 58 years of age and is survived by a wife and two children, and at one time made his home in this city.

WIPPERMAN FACTORY LEASED.

New Company has Made a Deal for the Wipperman Place.

The Wipperman factory has been leased to a new company, which will use the place for the purpose of manufacturing and distributing machinery which has been prepared to start up in this city in the near future.

The Wipperman plant is ideally suited for manufacturing purposes, being on the Green Bay & Western railway and plenty large enough in every way for the purpose intended.

The new company will engage in possibly in the manufacture of a cold storage machine, the patents of which are held by the company, and it is possible that later it will take hold of some potato planting and digging machinery which has been prepared by one of the members of the firm.

Everybody interested in the welfare of the city will be pleased to know that the company has received sufficient financial support to enable it to carry into business here, and at the same time the Wipperman plant will be called into use instead of lying idle, as has been the case for several years past.

ORDER OF MOOSE ORGANIZED HERE.

A lodge of the order of Moose was organized in this city on Sunday at the old yellow hall, and there were about one hundred on the list to be taken into the order, although they were not all on hand when the lodge was organized. It is expected, however, that the remainder will be taken in within a short time, and that a few members will also be added to the list.

The order is one that seems to appeal to the ordinary everyday sort of man, there being several advantages offered members that are not on the list in the other organizations of this sort, and the indications are that this lodge will soon be one of the strong ones of the city.

The work of organizing the lodge in this city was done by George (Percy) A. G. Brookwood, and the officers installed at the initial meeting were as follows:

Dictator. A. J. Crowns.
Vice Dict. W. H. Heath.
Past Dict. Wm. Nobles.
Prelate. A. F. Perrelli.
Sergeant. A. J. Reynolds.
Treasurer. E. N. Ponnasville.
Secretary. E. Wozniak.
Inner Guard. Max Tomaskowski.
Outer Guard. Max Kaudy.
Grandmaster. Joseph A. Cohen.
Treasurer. S. V. McElroy. A. B. Snider and Louis Heath.

While the Moose lodge is a new order compared with most of them, there are already more than 700,000 members in the United States, while Wisconsin alone there are something like 15,000 members.

The Million Dollar Mystery

By HAROLD MAC GRATH

(Copyright, 1915, by Harold MacGrath)

SYNOPSIS.

Stanley Hargrave, millionaire, after a miraculous escape from the den of the Black Hundred, lives the life of a reclusive recluse. He has a beautiful daughter, Miss Florence, who is a Broadway actress. One night, after the first of the season, she comes face to face with the gangster leader, Braine, who is apparently a friend of her father's. Braine, who is a friend of her father's, is a friend of her father's. Braine, who is a friend of her father's, is a friend of her father's.

CHAPTER II.

The Master's Man. Vroom faced Hargrave's butler somberly. The one reason why Braine made this man his lieutenant was because Vroom always followed the letter of his instructions to the final period; he never faltered or owned any trills or innovations of his own and because of this very automatism he rarely blundered into a trap. If he failed it was for the simple fact that the master mind had overlooked some essential detail. The organization of the Black Hundred was almost totally unknown to either the public or the police. It is only when you fall that you are found out.

"The patrolman had been trussed up like you," began Vroom. "If they find him they will probably find you. But before that you will grow thirsty and hungry. Where did your master put that money?"

"He carried it with him." "Why didn't you call for help?" "The houses on either side of the street were closed. They will have heard the pistol shots; but Mr. Hargrave was always practicing in the backyard."

"The people in those two houses have been called out of town. The servants are off for the night." "Very interesting," replied Jones, starting at the rug.

"Your master is dead." Jones' chin sank upon his breast. His heart was heavy, heavier than it had ever been before. "Your master left a will?" "Indeed, I could not tell."

"We can say. He has left three or four millions in stocks and bonds. What he took to the bottom of the sea with him was his available cash. I know nothing about his finances. I was his butler and valet."

Vroom nodded. "Come, men; it is time we took ourselves off. Put things in order; close the safe. You poor jacks, I always have to watch you for outbreaks of vandalism. Off with you!"

He was the last to leave. He stared long and searchingly at Jones, who felt the burning gaze but refused to meet it lest the plotter see the fire in his. The door closed. For fully an hour Jones listened but did not stir. They were really gone. He pressed his feet to the floor and began to hitch the chair toward the table. Half way across the intervening space he completely exhausted. He let a quarter of an hour pass, then made the final attack upon the remaining distance. He succeeded in reaching the desk, but he could not have stirred an inch farther. The hair on his head was damp with sweat and his hands were clammy.

stretching his legs gratefully. "Why?" "The auto bandits hold up a bank messenger today and get away with twenty thousand. Whenever a man draws down a big sum they seem to know about it. And say, Murphy, call up and have the river police look out for a new-fangled airship. Your master may have been rescued," turning to Jones.

"If I were only sure of that, sir!" When the police took themselves off Jones proceeded to act upon those plans laid down by Hargrave early that night. When this was done he sought his bed and fell asleep. The sleep of the exhausted, when Hargrave picked up Jones to share his fortune, he had put his trust in no ordinary man.

A dozen reporters trooped out to the Hargrave home, only to find it deserted. And while they were ringing bells and tapping windows, the man they sought was tramping up and down the platform of the railway station.

Through all this time Norton, the reporter, Hargrave's only friend, slept the sleep of the just and unjust. He rarely opened his eyes before noon. Group after group of passengers Jones eyed eagerly. Often, just as he was in the act of approaching a couple of young women, some man would hurry up, and there would be kisses or handshakes. At length he was discomfited by a young girl perhaps eighteen, accompanied by a young woman in the early thirties. They had the appearance of eagerly awaiting some one. Jones stepped forward with a good deal of diffidence.

"You are waiting for some one?" "Yes," said the elder woman, coldly. "A broken bracelet?" "The bracelet on both faces vanished instantly. The young girl's face brightened, her eyes sparkled with suppressed excitement.

"You are . . . my father?" "No, miss," very gravely. "I am the butler." "Let me see your part of the bracelet," said the young girl's guardian, a teacher who had been assigned to this delicate task by Miss Farlow, who could not bring herself to say good-by to Florence anywhere except at the school gates.

The halves were produced and examined. "I believe we may trust him, Florence." "Let us hurry to the taxicab. We must not stand here." "She is dead. I believe she died shortly after your birth. I have been with your father but fourteen years. I know but little of his life prior to that."

"Why did he leave me all those years without ever coming to see me?" "It is not for me, Miss Florence, to inquire into your father's act. But I do know that whatever he did was meant for the best. Your welfare was everything to him."

"It is all very strange," said the girl, bewilderedly. "Why didn't he come to meet me instead of you?" Jones stared at his hands, miserably. "Why?" she demanded. "I have thought of him, thought of him. He has hurt me with all this neglect. I expected to see him at the station, to throw my arms around his neck and cry 'forgive him.' Tears swam in his eyes as he spoke.

"Everything in this wide world to your father. You will never know the misery and loneliness he suffered that you might not have one hour of unrest. What are your plans?" he asked abruptly of the teacher from Miss Farlow's.

"That depends," she answered, laying her hand protectively over the girl's. "You could leave Miss Farlow's on the moment?" "Yes."

"Then you will stay and be Miss Florence's companion?" "Gladly."

"What is my father's name?" "Hargrave, Stanley Hargrave." The girl's eyes widened in terror. Suddenly she burst into a wild frenzy of sobbing, her head against the shoulder of her erstwhile teacher.

Jones appeared visibly shocked. "What is it?" "We read the story in the newspaper," said the elder woman, her own eyes filling with tears. "The poor child! To have all her father's money tumble down like this! But what authority have you to engage me?" sensibly.

Jones produced a document, duly attested by Hargrave, and witnessed and sealed by a notary, in which it was set forth that Henry Jones, butler and valet to Stanley Hargrave, had full powers of attorney in the event of his (Hargrave's) disappearance; in the event of his death, Miss Florence became of legal age.

Said Jones as he put the document back in his pocket: "What is your name?" "Susan Wane."

"Do you love this child?" "With all my heart, the poor unhappy babe!" "Thank you!" Inside the home he conducted them through the various rooms, at the same time telling them what had taken place during the preceding night. "They have not found his body?" "They have. 'My poor, poor father!'"

"Then he may be alive!" "Please God that he may!" said the butler, with genuine pity, for he had loved the man who had gone forth into the night so bravely and so strangely. "This is your room. Your father spent many happy hours here preparing for you."

Will Again be a Candidate.

Nomination papers are being circulated for George A. Varney for re-election to the office of county superintendent of schools. Mr. Varney has been an earnest worker since he has held the office, and it is safe to say that he has done as much as any man could have done in the same place, and the people of Wood County will be making no mistake if they put him back in the office again.

A Distinction Without a Difference.

Just now some of the papers are making quite a splutter as to whether the merchant marine of the United States should receive encouragement in the form of subsidies, or whether it should be left to its own resources the same as other business propositions.

Some papers are taking issue with one side and some with others, regardless of their political belief, or whether they are free traders or protectionists.

In one breath they decry the grasping attitude of the railroads, institutions that have always been the children of assistance from the government, and in the next breath they say that American shipping should be assisted.

Just where the difference comes in in assisting one enterprise and another is hard to see, but there may be some people who can see the difference.

Just now we are putting in most of our attention in regulating the railroads, and it appears as if we had regulated them until they are about sick of it, and some of the people who are now in the railroad business wish they had their money invested somewhere else, or did not have it invested at all.

The idea is to help the American shipping as much as possible, but do all you can to make it disagreeable for the railroads.

WAR PICTURES COMING.

The most remarkable series of moving pictures ever taken in the history of the world will be shown at Daly's Theatre at Grand Rapids on Feb. 22.

We refer to the Chicago Tribune War Pictures of the battles in Belgium. These are the only real war pictures ever taken showing actual fighting and conflict. There are numerous alleged war pictures going about which simply show troops in time of peace, parades, maneuvers, etc.

The European war pictures to be shown in Grand Rapids were taken by Edward P. Weigle, the Chicago Tribune staff photographer. Everyone knows that it is practically impossible to get on the firing line in Europe. The German, English, French and Russian countries prohibit it. A special arrangement, however, was made by the Chicago Tribune with the Belgian Red Cross whereby half the proceeds from these pictures go to the Belgian Red Cross fund and on these conditions, permission was given to Mr. Weigle to follow the troops and take his machine on the firing line.

Don't miss seeing them at Daly's Theatre Feb. 23.

Canadian Nonsense.

"You want a cozy home, a free life and sufficient income. You want education for your children and some pleasure for your wife. You want independence. Your burden has been heavy and your farm hasn't paid. You work hard and are discouraged. You require a change," etc. etc.

So says Canada to the Wisconsin farmer. Such bunk many weeklies are forced to print because of contracts between Canada and publishing concerns which supply "patent lies" for country newspapers. But this from the report of the Canadian government Agent for Wisconsin to the Canadian Superintendent of Immigration at Ottawa, is suggestive.

"In the southern or older parts of Wisconsin I find less desire than formerly to move west. This is accounted for by the fact the dairying, which is the chief business of this district, has been very profitable for the last two or three years and is getting better every year."

"Getting better every year!" We believe that it is and the industry only newly started. And there's an empire yet to be developed yet within the state. The Wisconsin farmer never was more prosperous and the prospect for future development never so bright as at this time.

The fellow who told us this story was a farmer, and as he wore a grand army button in the lapel of his coat we believe every word of it. Any man that wears one of them buttons has got our goat and can have anything in our power next to our skin to the bottle of three star Hennessy. He said he had an Irishman working for him that would fight at the drop of the hat and drop the hat himself. One day along about hay making time, Pat asked for a leave of absence to go to a neighborhood wedding. He was told that it was a busy time but not to cheat him if he was of an enjoyment he might go if he would promise to return the same night. He went and that was the last seen of him for two days. When he finally returned both eyes were in mourning, one tooth was gone and his lip was cut. He was badly disfigured. Pat said he, I thought you went to a wedding. So I did said Pat and it was the grandest affair I ever attended. Everybody was there and such eating and drinking I had not witnessed since the three leaves and seven went after the three leaves and seven.

I intended to keep my promise and I would have done so, if it had not been on the evening of my arrival when I met a fellow wearing a long coat and a low necked vest. Being inquisitive I asked him, who he was and he said he was the best man. "Not while I am here," said I and we went at it. The last thing I can remember was seeing more stars than there is in the Milky way. He was the best man.—Marshfield Herald.

Tell What You Have For Sale.

At this season of the year a great many buyers are looking thru the newspaper advertisements for bargains in various lines of merchandise. Many people have delayed making their purchases in the expectation that things will be cheaper in January and February than they were before. The wise merchant should take advantage of this desire to buy at close figures, by announcing thru the newspapers what he has to sell, and at what prices.

In this way he can often dispose of stock which would otherwise have to remain on his shelves another season. By merely depending upon the trade which generally comes to his store, the business man is not apt to add that of others who might find it very convenient, in fact easy, to call on him. Many would even be glad to do so, but not knowing what he has to offer, they make their purchases elsewhere, and the merchant who really has the goods they want at the right prices is compelled to hold them over. Perhaps these goods become so shopworn that later they have to be disposed of at a much lower price.

A policy of not advertising does not help in meeting the fixed charges of an establishment. These expenses do not stop because a man does not see the advisability of inviting customers into his place thru newspaper announcements. A judicious use of money for such a purpose is an economy in many ways. By telling people what you have for sale and the prices you want for your goods, you will be able to get and hold valuable business.—Milwaukee Daily News.

Wm. Wolosch drives a new span of roadsters which he recently purchased.

Several young people went over to Kellner last Friday night and attended a Valentine party and oyster supper given by the Moravian church people.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Shepard and two children of Big Flats, Adams Co., are visiting here at the home of Mrs. Shepard's mother, Mrs. Lucy Hale.

A large crowd attended the dance at Lutz's Hall last week Wednesday, and all report a pleasant time.

An unusually hard rain storm for midwinter struck here last Saturday which reduced the snow to water and slush which froze again Sunday night leaving the roads and fields covered with ice.

Mr. Joe Worzalla and Miss Lizzie Hoffman were married at the Polish Catholic church at River Monday morning.

Mr. Worzalla is a resident of Florence but owns a farm here and is well known and has many friends here. Miss Hoffman is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Hoffman and has spent most of her life in this vicinity. The young couple expect to reside among us for a while and their friends wish them a long and happy wedded life.

Mr. Fred Becker and son Otto made a trip to Marshfield on Tuesday.

The Basket Ball game which was to be held here on Saturday night between the home team and the Auburdule team was postponed on account of the storm.

A farewell party was given for Mr. and Mrs. Herman Yantz on Friday evening at the home of Mrs. D. Davis. An impromptu program was given, after which games were played and a delicious luncheon was served. All report a good time.

Mr. Charles Sommers who is employed at Marshfield spent Sunday at home with his family.

The Juniors of the Northwest Collegiate Institute gave a Lincoln party Friday. The rooms were appropriately decorated, and the program was unique, consisting of games which were instructive as well as entertaining. After the meritment of the Lincoln-Douglas debate the students the company marched to the quarter-master's tent for evening "rations."

This was followed by Lincoln anecdotes and the singing of "America" closed the very enjoyable evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Yantz left Monday for the west, expecting to locate in Colorado. They have long been residents of Sherry and the people regret to see them go, but wish them prosperity and hope they will enjoy their new home.

T. H. Sepp arrived this week from Chicago to take up studies at the Northwest Collegiate Institute.

This Year's Potato Crop.

The following taken from the editorial columns of the Oshkosh Northwestern contains food for thought and may well be heeded by growers who are able to hold their stock until later in the season.

The European war has had no appreciable effect on the price of potatoes in this country as yet, but it may have a very decided effect before the close of the present year. The commissioner of Agriculture of Texas has been making a study of this question and, in a recent circular issued to the farmers of that state, the latter are urged to increase their potato acreage for the coming season, in anticipation of an increased demand and much higher prices.

Here is the way the Texas official figures it out: "The waring nations grow about two-thirds of the world's supply of potatoes. If the war continues a large percentage of the seed supply for the spring crop will necessarily have to be consumed for food during the winter and next spring when planting time comes, those countries will hardly be in a condition to produce more than one-fourth, or at most, one-third of a crop. All this means that next year we will see the smallest crop of potatoes produced in Europe than has been known for the last generation, which, of course, will bring exceptionally high prices, not only in the old country, but in this country as well, because under the stimulus of high prices this country will, undoubtedly, export large quantities.

If this question is of interest to the farmers of Texas, much more will it interest the farmers of this state, which is a large producer of potatoes. Of course if there should be an early end of the European war it would materially alter the situation as suggested above, but there is little likelihood that peace will return in time to permit the farmers of European nations to plant their usual acreage of potatoes, while if the war continues the supply of seed potatoes will probably be diminished to a low level. In fact, it looks as if potatoes will be a good "money crop" this year, and Wisconsin potato growers should think over this situation and govern themselves accordingly.

Henry Ford Buys Club.

The report is being circulated that Henry Ford, the wealthy automobile manufacturer, has purchased the holdings of the Sylvatic club lying in the Eagle River lake region just north of Black Oak lake. The Sylvatic club is comprised of members of the steel corporation headed by W. D. Corey, who have built a club house, main lodge and numerous artistic bungalows between Sand and Clark lake, two beautiful bodies of inland waters. The holdings are situated in Michigan, just north of the Wisconsin line and are said to comprise six or eight sections. It contains a myriad of lakes and is one of the most magnificently timbered sections anywhere in this lake region. The investment amounts to a quarter million dollars.

Will Again be a Candidate.

Nominations papers are being circulated for George A. Varney for re-election to the office of county superintendent of schools. Mr. Varney has been an earnest worker since he has held the office, and it is safe to say that he has done as much as any man could have done in the same place, and the people of Wood County will be making no mistake if they put him back in the office again.

A Distinction Without a Difference. Just now some of the papers are making quite a racket as to whether the merchant receives encouragement in the form of subsidies, or whether it should be left to its own resources the same as other business propositions.

Some papers are taking issue with one side and some with others, regardless of their political belief, or whether they are free traders or protectionists.

In one breath they deny the grasping attitude of the railroads, institutions that have always been the children of assistance from the government, and in the next breath they say that American shipping should be assisted.

Just where the difference comes in in assisting our enterprises and another is hard to see, but there may be some people who can see the difference.

Just now we are putting in most of our attention in regulating the railroads, and it appears as if we had regulated them until they are about sick of it, and some of the people who are now in the railroad business wish they had their money invested some where else, or did not have it invested at all.

The idea is to help the American shipping as much as possible, but do all you can to make it disagreeable for the railroads.

WAR PICTURES COMING.

The most remarkable series of moving pictures ever taken in the history of the world will be shown at Daly's Theatre at Grand Rapids on Feb. 22.

We refer to the Chicago Tribune War Pictures of the battles of Belgium. These are the only real war pictures ever taken showing actual fighting and conflict. There are numerous staged war pictures going about which simply show troops in time of peace, parades, maneuvers, etc. The European war pictures to be shown in Grand Rapids were taken by Edward F. Weigle, the Chicago Tribune staff photographer. Every one knows that it is practically impossible to get on the firing line in Europe. The German, English, French and Russian countries prohibit a special arrangement, however, was made by the Chicago Tribune with the Belgian government whereby half the proceeds from these pictures go to the Belgian Red Cross fund and on these conditions, permission was given to Weigle to follow the troops and take his pictures on the firing line.

Don't miss seeing them at Daly's Theatre Feb. 22.

School Order Books for sale at Canadian Nonsense.

"You want a cozy home, a free life and sufficient income. You want education for your children and some pleasure for your wife. You want independence for your farm hasn't paid, you're hard and are discouraged. You require a change," etc.

So says Canada to the Wisconsin farmer. Such bunk many weeklies are forced to print because of contracts between Canada and "patent insides" for country newspapers.

But this from the report of the Canadian Government Agent for Wisconsin to the Canadian Superintendent of Immigration at Ottawa, is suggestive:

"In the southern or older parts of Wisconsin I find less desire than formerly to move west. This is accounted for by the fact that dairying, which is the chief business of this district, has been very profitable for the last two or three years and is getting better every year." We believe that it is and the industry only newly started. And there's an empire yet to be developed yet within the state. The Wisconsin farmer never was more prosperous and the prospect for future development never so bright as at this time.

The fellow who told us this story was a farmer, and as he wore a grand army button in the lapel of his coat we believe every word of it. Any man that wears one of them buttons has got our goat and can have any thing in our possession from the garden to the hat and drop the hat himself. One day along about hay making time, Pat asked for a leave of absence to go to a neighborhood wedding. He was told that it was busy time but not to cheat him out of an enjoyment. He might go if he would promise to return the same night. He went and that was the last seen of him for two days. When he finally returned both eyes were in mourning, one tooth was gone and his lip was cut. He was badly disfigured. Pat said he, I thought you went to a wedding. So I did said Pat and it was the grandest affair I ever attended. Everybody was there and such eating and drinking has not been witnessed since the multitude went after the three loaves and seven fishes. I intended to keep my promise and I would have done so, if it had not been on the evening of my arrival when I was sashaying around in the crowd I met a fellow wearing a long coat and a low necked vest. Being inquisitive I asked him who he was and he said he was the best man. "Not while I am here," said I and we went at it. The last thing I can remember was seeing more stars than there is in the Milky Way. He was the best man.—Marshall Herald.

A Sad Feeling Banished

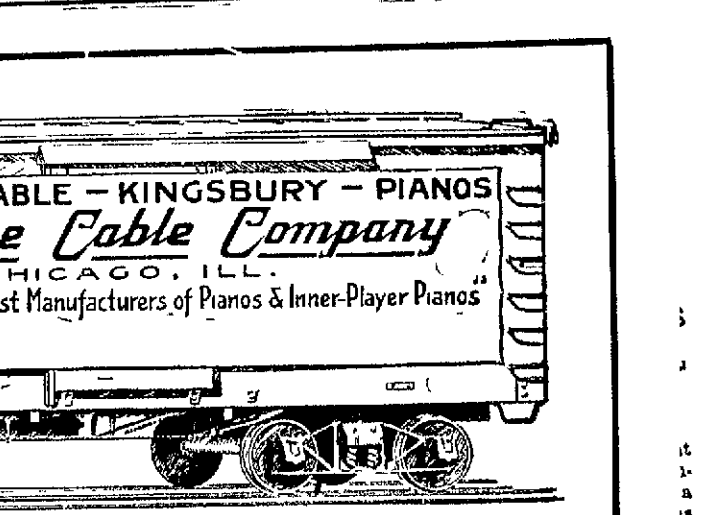

To the man who saves money, time is passing. To the man who saves nothing, time is lost.

The saver gains ground as time passes. His backward glance is one of satisfaction.

But the man who saves not, well, if you know the sad feeling of thoughtlessness, you can banish it in a short time by opening an account and saving systematically. Our Savings Department offers you the opportunity. And we will pay 3 per cent interest on all you save and bank here.

Barney Hoffman of Hilbert Junction was a guest at the home of his friend John Killea from Tuesday until Monday.

Dr. C. C. Rowley spent several days in the city last week, coming from Oshkosh to attend the opening of the Elks home.

Miss Lydia Ecklund has gone to Minneapolis where she will act as bridesmaid at the marriage of her cousin, Miss Florence Sitterly.

Messrs. Chas. and Will Kellogg are in Milwaukee this week to attend the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Retail Lumber Dealers Association.

Dr. E. J. Clark has purchased a Ford touring car from Stevens Point. The car is equipped with a lot of extras. Fred Mosher drove it over on Tuesday.

Mrs. J. H. Spencer, Mrs. H. Barney and Miss Lucile Daley of Neeshah were in the city on Monday visiting friends and to attend the opening of the Witter Hotel.

Mrs. Herbert Roach of Milwaukee was in the city several days last week to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Mathis and attend the opening of the Elks club.

Miss Mary Meyers, who is employed as waitress at the Hotel Blodgett at Marshfield, was in the city on Monday to assist at the banquet at the Hotel Witter that night.

Miss Anna Klappa was in Sigel on Sunday to attend an apron social given by the young ladies of the Polish Catholic church. There was a big crowd and the young ladies cleared over $25.

Harry Leverance, one of the solid farmers of the town of Seneca was a pleasant caller at this office on Monday. Mr. Leverance says he is getting out a number of logs on his farm this winter and that there will be a portable sawmill there in a few weeks to cut them up and any others that his neighbors care to bring in. Mr. Leverance thinks that there will be a cut of about 200,000 feet.

W. H. Carey returned on Saturday from Chicago where he spent a week attending the Cement show at the Coliseum. The show this year was a colossal success than ever, there being 50 more applicants for spaces than could be accommodated. One of the features of the show was photographs in transparencies depicting the fire at the Thomas A. Edison plant last December. Contrary to early newspaper comments this disastrous fire was a complete demonstration of the efficiency of the proof construction. Coinciding with the Cement show were conventions of the American Concrete Institute, American Concrete Pipe Association, National Builders Supply Association and the Illinois Lumber and Builders Supply Dealers' Association.

Death of Mrs. Zuchacz.

Mrs. Rosie Zuchacz of the town of Seneca died on Monday, February 14, at the age of 74 years, after a illness of considerable length. Death occurred at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Anton Jundkowski.

The funeral will be held on Thursday from the Catholic church, the remains to be interred in Calvary cemetery.

Meeting of Press Association.

The midwinter meeting of the Central Wisconsin Press Association will be held at Marshfield next Friday afternoon and evening. A program has been prepared that will occupy the afternoon, and in the evening there will be a banquet at the Hotel Blodgett, followed by a talk and informal discussion. If nothing occurs to prevent it, there will undoubtedly be a large turnout at the meeting.

The Drink That Leads To Sobriety

Malt, hops, barley, have a rightful place in our diet as a food nourishment. These ingredients are necessary to normal existence. In good beer we get essential food values in proper proportions, and the most appetizing way.

Beer is a stimulant that never leads to drunkenness! It is a food, as well as a beverage. Its alcoholic contents are about 3 per cent. A glass of beer at meal times adds 100 per cent to food values.

Beer is a food in itself, and a digestive solvent for other foods. Beefsteak and beer are a balanced ration that contain every element needed for existence.

The food elements in beer are only light exercise for our digestive organs; they afford quick relief for the stomach. That is why it is called an "appetizer."

Beer bottled and aged at your home brewery and delivered to your home is best! It is full of strength, effervescent, it has life and flavor; it is pure and sparkling, wholesome and nutritious.

Dr. Wiley, Eminent Pure Food Expert, says: "Beer is a veritable food tonic—a stimulant of mild form; a beverage of highest quality."

Know how good beer is made—know how the malt, hops and barley are brewed; how purity and sanitation are brought to perfection; how the products are free from germs and injurious substances. The safe laws of nature demand a food beverage of universal relish; the same laws of man have provided pure, wholesome beer.

In sorting our stock, we put every board that is not strictly up to grade, in the next lower grade. This makes every grade of our stock uniform and of a higher and better quality than you can buy elsewhere for the same money.

Don't be a mollycoddle and take any old thing. Come where you can get the best at the same price.

Harry Leverance, one of the solid farmers of the town of Seneca was a pleasant caller at this office on Monday. Mr. Leverance says he is getting out a number of logs on his farm this winter and that there will be a portable sawmill there in a few weeks to cut them up and any others that his neighbors care to bring in. Mr. Leverance thinks that there will be a cut of about 200,000 feet.

W. H. Carey returned on Saturday from Chicago where he spent a week attending the Cement show at the Coliseum. The show this year was a colossal success than ever, there being 50 more applicants for spaces than could be accommodated. One of the features of the show was photographs in transparencies depicting the fire at the Thomas A. Edison plant last December. Contrary to early newspaper comments this disastrous fire was a complete demonstration of the efficiency of the proof construction. Coinciding with the Cement show were conventions of the American Concrete Institute, American Concrete Pipe Association, National Builders Supply Association and the Illinois Lumber and Builders Supply Dealers' Association.

WITTER HOUSE OPENED.

Large Crowd Turns Out to Partake of the Banquet Monday.

The new Hotel Witter was formally thrown open to the public on Monday evening, and a large crowd turned out to take part in the festivities and see what Landlord (Grew) had done to give the east side a first class hostelry.

The banquet was commenced at 6:30 o'clock and there was enough to fill the tables three times, there being 260 who partook of the banquet. It was expected that the first relay would sit down at 6:30 and get thru so that the second lot could be seated an hour later, but either owing to the many good things that were set before them, or some other cause things did not move as rapidly as was expected, and it was about 11:30 when the last of the guests had left the table.

The large number of guests was handled in very nice style, and they were all pleased with the treatment they received and with the entertainment afforded them. There was music, both vocal and instrumental, during the evening, and everything passed off in a most pleasing manner.

After the banquet the dining room was cleared and the guests who cared to stay indulged in dancing for a time. The new hotel will undoubtedly prove of considerable benefit to Grand Rapids, as there has been need of a rejuvenation of this hostelry for some years past, and it is the general verdict that Mr. and Mrs. Grew are the people to do it in proper style.

By the addition of the new part to the hotel the entire appearance of the interior has been changed for the better and there is no doubt but what the traveling public will appreciate it.

The Odd Fellows gave a social dance at their hall on Tuesday evening at which there was a good attendance and a good time.

LOCALS WIN FROM WAUSAU.

Wausau came down on Friday and played a game of basketball with the team from the Lincoln high school, and from the score it would appear that our boys put it over the visitors just a trifle. It is reported that the game was a good one, and every point was hotly contested from start to finish, but the locals had the best end of it all the way thru, and when it was all over it was found that the home team had rolled up a score of 24 points while the visitors were getting 16. The largest crowd of the season turned out to witness the game which is encouraging the patronage formerly being rather light.

Unerring Accuracy Characterizes Dodge Brothers' Work

The car is marked by that rigid insistence upon unerring accuracy which is recognized as the chief characteristic of all Dodge Brothers' work.

Ordinary good practice has not been good enough—in every detail you will find the exceptional.

You will encounter many features which will exceed your expectations—never one that falls below them.

Your enthusiasm over one feature has scarcely subsided before you discover that another, and then another, reaches the same high plane. Not a detail in the car is determined simply by precedent or custom—the one thought was to see how much value Dodge Brothers could give by getting the utmost out of their manufacturing experience and equipment.

You are almost sure to ask yourself how it is possible to incorporate such quality at such moderate a price.

The answer is furnished by the extraordinary experience and equipment enjoyed by Dodge Brothers and to which we have just referred.

Examine The Car Item By Item

It will interest you to scan the specification item by item, and see if you can conceive how the material design or the manufacturing practice could be improved.

You will find that such vital parts as the springs and the gears made from chrome vanadium steel.

This has several valuable results. Because of the strength of chrome vanadium steel, the leaves in the
